

Message from your teacher

We have been working hard on controlling our bodies and also working on how we talk in the classroom. - what a quiet voice sounds like, not interrupting the teacher or our friends. A lot of kindergarten is learning how to be a student, a good friend, what to do when we are upset, and practicing self-control. Learning doesn't mean boring or have to seem like a punishment. We are playing lots of games to practice these skills and we are making lots of progress.

WHAT WE LEARNED

- Reading - This week we added the letter /d/ this week and Read the story The Dot. We painted our own dot pictures using Kandinsky as our inspiration.
- Math - We learned all about 2-D shapes.
- Writing - We talked about our illustrations helping us tell a story by using realistic colors or creative colors.
- Religion - We learned about the ten commandments and practiced our songs for Grandparent's Day.
- Social Studies - We are all "Smart Cookies" We all have gifts to share and our gifts can be different from others.
- Science - Living and Non-Living
